Building Approval

The Hindmarsh Shire Council has recently approved the NAHC application to build a new Aviation Heritage Centre at the Nhill Aerodrome.

The Centre is the major component and Stage 1 of our larger project. When completed Stage 1 will house the restored Avro Anson aircraft and other aviation memorabilia.

Tax Deductibility Status

1. After three years of intensive negotiation, the NAHC has been granted Tax Deductibility Status by the Australian Taxation Office.
2. The support of Federal Member for Mallee John Forrest, the Victorian Minister for Veterans' Affairs and Member for Lowan Hugh Delahunty, and the Hindmarsh Shire Council Director of Community Development Phil King was a key element in this achievement.

October 2012 Fly-in

The NAHC received the following Email from Dean Shaw:

I just wanted to congratulate the organisers of last weekend's Nhill Fly-In (20th October 2012). I am from the Wimmera region originally, more recently I have been living in the USA but am currently in Horsham visiting family. Being an aviation enthusiast I headed up to Nhill on Saturday and had a great day! It has taken me a while, but I have finally got around to adding a blog entry on the fly-In and it can be seen here:

Dean has kindly given permission to publish this link to his Blog:
